

Gregg Daniel

Actor / Director

Gregg Daniel is a 62 year-old African American actor born in Brooklyn, New York. Over the course of his long career, Gregg has acted in over 100 roles in film and television, such as his roles in 2018's "Truth or Dare" and his role as Reverend Daniels in HBO's "True Blood". His many roles led him to have an experience in every genre you could think of. Along with this, he has a successful career as an accomplished theater director; winning countless awards and accolades for his work on Kwame Kwei-Armah's "Elmina's Kitchen", which also won the NAACP Award for "Best Ensemble" in 2013. Gregg also won the NAACP Theatre Award for Best Director. "

Gregg Daniel And Erinn Westbrook Join Chaparro's 7th & Union

Broken English Productions, part of film finance company Grandave Capital, announced today that actors Gregg Daniel and Erinn Westbrook are attaching to the project.

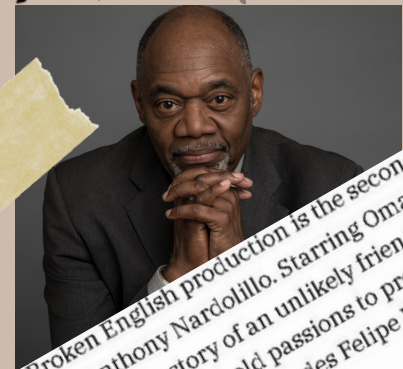

When veteran Hollywood actor Gregg Daniel was offered an audition for a new movie in Los Angeles, he nearly didn't show up - the pandemic was well under way, and "no one was shooting."
"I almost hesitated even going to the audition," said Daniel.
"I'm African-American, I'm over 50 and disproportionately black people were dying of COVID-19... but the script was so good, and I'm an actor at heart."
Fast-forward to today, and Daniel has completed boxing drama 7th & Union, filmed in the streets of the eerily quiet California entertainment capital.

The Broken English production is the second feature film from director Anthony Nardolillo. Starring Omar Chaparro, the boxing drama tells the story of an unlikely friendship, a broken promise and two men using their old passions to provide a brighter future for their family. The cast also includes Felipe Esparza, Edy Ganem, Gregg Daniel and Oscar Torre.

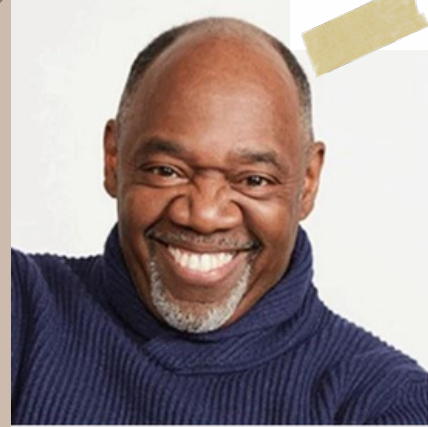

SAG-AFTRA has given a greenlight for production on 7th & Union, a LatinX drama toplined by Mexican comedy star Omar Chaparro and Edy Ganem, and to start in Los Angeles on Monday.
The feature from newly launched Broken English Productions has Chaparro playing Raymundo, a Mexican ex-fighter who forms an unlikely bond with a disgruntled man (Gregg Daniel), whose life and relationship with his daughter, played by Erinn Westbrook, are unraveling.

Gregg Daniel is a seasoned actor with credits in shows like HBO's "True Blood" and Marvel's "Spider Man 3". In his latest role, he stars in 50 Cent's new show 'For Life' which tells the true story of Aaron Wallace -- a black man who was wrongly convicted and ultimately exonerated of drug trafficking charges back in the late 1900s. Daniel plays an inmate named Easley Barton, who Wallace meets along his journey behind bars.

I wish someone had told me when I first started that for a career to happen, be prepared to be in it for the long haul. Very few of us start out in the industry by booking a major feature or landing a series lead on a television show. Success in the entertainment industry is usually a process of years and years of practicing your craft and steadily building credits. The tenacity and resiliency it takes to be a working actor is a product of focus, patience and drive. There's a funny line spoken by a character from a John Guare play, "I'm too old to be an overnight success."
